Citadel Enterprises Introduces Concierge Care Service

MOUNT PLEASANT, S.C. – Part-time residents now have an inspection service that will assist them when they are not in the area. Citadel Enterprises has established Citadel Concierge Care, a home care service for those people who live in the Lowcountry part-time. “It’s never easy to be away from one’s house for several months. There are always so many things to worry about,” said Pete Loy, President of Citadel Enterprises. “We started this service because we wanted to give people peace of mind when they’re not at home.”

Here is how the service works. A Concierge Care professional will inspect the home as often as the owner wishes, from once a week to once a month. With a long menu of services, the homeowner will decide on the number of tasks performed and the number of visits per month. During the visit, the inspector will check those items pre-agreed upon from a checklist custom tailored to each property and the owner’s specific needs. If he finds something wrong with the home or something out of place, the item will receive immediate attention. At the conclusion of every inspection, the home owner will receive an e-mail confirming the inspection and comments regarding what the inspector found or fixed.
